SERIOUS CHARGES.

Winnipeg, Oct. 1.—The Free Press this morning charges that Greenway, before the last general election, went to the members of the Manitoba Central Railway and offered to give them the building of the line between this city and Portage, also to lease the Red River Valley road if they would contribute ten thousand dollars to the general election fund of the liberal party, and two thousand five hundred to pay his own election expenses. This they agreed to do, but Greenway did not carry out his share of the contract. It is not pretended that Greenway or the party ever received a cent of the money, and the evidence produced in support of the charge consists of letters from Greenway whose obvious meaning does not bear out the interpretation put on them. The impression here is that the charge is a groundless one, vamped up by disappointed boodlers who have made a tool of Luxton.

MR. DUNCAN'S INDIANS

Dissatisfied in Alaska—Some Returning to B. C.—Sunday Work.

Among the passengers by the Ancon which arrived from Alaska this morning was Mr. Jas. Rudland from Annette Island.

Mr. Rudland was for many years storekeeper for Mr. Duncan at Metlakahtla and crossed over with him to Alaska, when the Indian tribe emigrated there last year. On his arrival this morning he was seen by a TIMES reporter and gave a very interesting account of matters connected with the Duncan mission. To begin with Mr. Rudland says he has had enough of Alaska and will not return there again. Neither himself as a trader nor the Indians can do as well as they can on the Skeena River. A large number went over this year to work at the canneries and two families have decided not to return. Two others who have been working among the mines all summer are also dissatisfied and are likely to leave soon. Next year all of them will go back to their old employers to look for work and no doubt some will remain. The fishing suits them better than mining, they can do better at it and besides they have not to work on Sunday. In Alaska they are required to labor on Sunday, and that is in strict opposition to what they have been taught, during the many long years they have been under the care of Mr. Duncan. The fact is, the Indians will not work on Sunday. With commendable determination they refuse to do what they believe to be wrong, and would feel much more at home in British possessions, where the injunction to "rest on seventh day from your labors" is held sacred. Some work has been done at the village but there is much yet to be accomplished. A cannery has been built and a school house is about to be commenced. The townsite has not yet been laid out or surveyed.

When Bishop Cridge and Senator McDonald visited Mr. Duncan, the Indians held quite a picnic. The inhabitants first gave a feast and then Mr. Duncan returned the compliment. The Indian laws in Alaska are very peculiar. Mr. Rudland has been engaged in salting salmon this year and has had many difficulties to contend with. The Indians, he says, have some kind of a claim on the rivers which is recognized by the Alaska government and before you can fish in them you have got to settle with the Indians. In some of the streams you can hardly pay them to allow you to fish. Many of the indians will return to Metlakahtla but some of them never will.

NEW WESTMINSTER ITEMS.

Death From Small Pox—Drowned While Drunk.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

New Westminster, Oct. 1—James Walworth, one of the small pox victims at Surrey, died on Saturday.

Yesterday morning about one o'clock, Wm. B. James, a deck hand on the snag boat Samson, while in the act of going on board at the wharf, in this city, fell from the steps into the water and was drowned. The body was recovered in a few moments after the occurrence and an inquest held on it to-day. The jury returned a verdict of accidental death by drowning while under the influence of liquor.

FROM THE YUKON.

Numbers Leaving—No New Strikes—Miners Starved Out.

The steamer Idaho arrived this morning from Alaska with a number of miners from the Yukon river. Amongst the number were Ben. Atwater and C. McKee. From the former the Times gleaned the following interesting news:

He left for the Yukon two years ago and prospected almost every portion of that country. During the spring of 1887 good paying diggings were discovered on Forty Mile Creek, and the miners averaged about one ounce of gold per day to the man. These mines were worked out and no new strikes of any importance were made since. The tributaries of the Yukon all show indications of gold, and the miners would make paying wages if supplies could be obtained at reasonable rates. The Alaska Commercial company control the country and charge such prices that the miners find it almost impossible to live. The rates charged for supplies are as follows: Bacon (inferior), 40c per lb; flour, 17½c per lb; beans, 20c per lb; sugar, 30c per lb; apples, 30c per lb; peaches, 35c per lb; butter 75c per lb; lard 38 per tin; milk, $30 per case; overalls, $2 per pair; gum boots, $14 per pair; syrup, $10 per keg; tea, $1.50 per lb; tobacco, $1.25 per lb. During the spring of 1887 there was a big rush to the Yukon and about 500 men were scattered over the river and its tributaries. Two men were drowned in White Horse River in May last. Their names could not be ascertained, but one was a German and the other a native of France. They were going down the river in a boat and were drawn into the rapids. The boat swamped and both men were lost.

Last summer some of the miners made as high as $100 per day and were very hopeful, but when Forty Mile Creek was worked out and no new discoveries made the profits on the tributaries dwindled down to from $3 to $10 per day. Very few men will stay on the river this winter. A few will be compelled to stay, as they have no means of leaving, and will be provided with food by the United States government.

A strike was reported from Beaver Creek and 150 miners made a rush for the new diggings. When they arrived there it was found that the report was unfounded.

William Moore was seen at the mouth of a pass about three miles from the head of navigation. He is building a short trail to the mines.

A Swede was killed by an Indian last Spring at a place called Quiqot. The murdered man was one of a party of prospectors, and was a most inoffensive individual. He was leaving his tent with a bucket to get some water when he was shot in the back. When this news reached the Yukon, a party of 25 miners determined to deal out summary justice to the murderer. They took the steamer Explorer and immediately started for the Indian encampment where the murder occurred. On the way they discovered two Indian women who were acquainted with the murderer and were witnesses of the crime. The women were kept on the boat whilst the miners secured the murderer. He was taken to the mouth of the Quoqot and given a trial with a miner for a judge, and a jury. The evidence of the women was taken and a verdict of "guilty" returned. The Indian was then hanged to a tree by the 25 determined men.

Mr. Atwater considers that the Alaska Commercial Company is ruining the development of the Yukon country. There is plenty of gold and numerous pay creeks, which cannot be prospected by miners on account of the high cost of provisions. Last year Mr. Atwater paid $704 for an outfit, and found it impossible to live in the country without making $10 to $14 perday. Snow begins to fall on the first of October, and is three feet deep until the first of May. The river is also covered with ice in October and mining can only be carried on for four or five months.

Tenanah river was explored last spring by Mr. Atwater. He saw splendid quartz in the locality and is confident that gold will be found in paying quantities.

Three small steamers ply on the Yukon, carrying provisions and passengers. Twenty-six men arrived at the head of navigation in one day, on their way out of the country, and it is doubtful whether any miners will remain during this winter, excepting those whose circumstances will not allow them to get out.

Mr. Atwater spent two years in the country and explored many of the tributaries. Gold was found in nearly all the streams. He considers that it would be useless to say that the mines are good, whilst provisions remain high and the season is so short. None of the miners came out with more that $1000, and the average yield for the year will not be more than $300 per man. The quartz mines have not been developed, but he is confident that they are rich and will some day pay well.

SPORTING NOTES.

The last game of the series beween the Junior nines of this city took place on Beacon Hill last Saturday afternoon and was won by the James Bays with a score of 8 runs to 3 made by their opponents, the Maple Leafs. The victors were very jubilant over their success and paraded the city on Saturday evening with a large, new broom. Their manager, Mr. W Lorimer, is confident that his club can defeat the Amities. The only casualty recorded was a muffed ball which was thrown the manager after the game and slipped through his fingers. He will nurse a bruised nasal organ during the week.

At the Medicine Hat baseball tournament on Thursday, for a prize of $300, the match between Donald and Lethbridge resulted in a score of 19 to 11. The match between Calgary and Medicine Hat stood 16 to 15. Donald and Medicine Hat were, therefore pitted against one another again, on Friday, with the following result: Donald 17, Medicine Hat 15.

Vernon is presuming upon possible incorporation and is going to have her tournament. It will take place on Oct. 11 and 12. The first day will be devoted to horse racing, open to the world, and the second day to baseball.

Hamburg, Oct. 1—Professor Geffeicken has been arrested here charged with furnishing extracts from Emperor Frederick's diary, which were recently published in the Deutsche Rundschau.

ANOTHER DEFAULTER.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 1—The Union Savings Bank has not opened this morning owing to the result of an examination of the books, which showed the amount of Cashier Chapin's irregularities to be very large. The entire loss will fall on the bank. Savings Bank Commissioner E. P. Chapman, who was engaged in an examination of the books, found that in addition to loaning money on wildcat securities, Chapin allowed several customers to overdraw their accounts, and covered up the deficiency in his cash by the manipulation of books of the savings bank and national banks. Chapin's irregularities are estimated as follows: Overdraft, partly secured, $77,000; loan to the Seattle Zinc Company, $23,000; other unauthorized loans, $8000; total, $108,000. Perhaps $30,000 is fully secured.

CARELESS USE OF FIREARMS.

Los Angeles, Oct. 1—Antonio Palmeri, when hunting yesterday, shot at a ground squirrel, and when the little animal dodged into its hole, Palmeri attempted to did it out with the but end of his gun. He held the muzzle towards him and the gun exploded. The charge entered his right leg just below the groin and the ball ranged upwards and entered a vital part. He died in about an hour in great agony.

BILL SIGNED.

Washington, Oct. 1—President Cleveland signed the Scott Chinese Exclusion Bill this morning.

Section one of the bill is as follows: "From and after the passage of this Act it shall be unlawful for any Chinese laborer, who shall at any time heretofore have been or who may now or hereafter will be a resident within the United States, and who shall have departed or shall depart from it, and shall not return before the passage of this Act, to return or remain in the United States."

Section two: "That no certificate of identity provided for the fourth and fifth sections of this Act, to which this is a supplement, shall hereafter be issued, and every certificate heretofore issued in pursuance thereof, is hereby declared void, and of no effect, and the Chinese laborer claiming admission by virtue thereof shall not be permitted to enter the United States."

San Francisco, Oct. 1—The receipt of the news that the President had signed the Chinese Bill sent a thrill of excitement through the city. The news spread in surprisingly short time, and all, regardless of party, rejoiced that Chinese immigration was in a fair way to be suppressed. The inhabitants of Chinatown quickly learned the situation and groups of jabbering Mongolians could be seen on all sides, evidently discussing the news.

BOULANGER'S ELECTION.

Paris, Oct. 1—Goblet, Minister of Foreign affairs, in a speech yesterday, expressed the anxiety he felt over the election of General Boulanger to the Chamber of Deputies, and drew a picture of the trouble which would befall France if many Boulangists were elected. He hoped that the country would rally to the support of the government.

EXPELLING CHINESE.

Truckee, Cal., Oct. 1—Yesterday morning dozens of drunken Indians were reeling through the streets and one Indian shot and seriously wounded a squaw. He was pursued by citizens, and while resisting arrest, was shot dead. It was found that the Chinese here had sold whiskey and opium to the Indians. A mass meeting of citizens was held this afternoon and resolutions adopted requesting the Chinese to leave Truckee before morning. A committee was appointed to present the resolutions to the Chinese, which was done, the latter stating they leave in the specified time.

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDER.

London, Oct. 1—The Lord Mayor today offered £500 reward for the Whitechapel murderer. Dr. Forbes Winslow, Sir Risdon Bennett and other medical experts are more than ever convinced that the murderer is a homicidal lunatic. The police have no clue to the murderer. Several arrests were made on suspicion, but little hope of any being the man wanted. The Financial News has offered a reward of £300 and the stock exchange is raising funds for the apprehension of the murderer.

FORBIDS A COLLECTION.

Dublin, Oct. 1—Bishop O'Dwier, Roman Catholic Bishop of Limerick, has forbidden a collection in his chapels for the Parnell defence fund.

—The Idaho brought down 1000 cases of salmon from Lorings' cannery, Alaska, destined as follows: 300 cases for Pittsburgh; 350 cases for Peoria; 350 for Little Rock.

FROM VANCOUVER.

First Death—Park Commissioners—The New World.

Vancouver, Sept. 29—We are having the most delightful weather imaginable.

Yesterday while a gas-fitter was connecting a pipe with the main on Cordova street, he was overcome by the escaping gas and he dropped down senseless, but on being removed from the spot he soon recovered and returned to work again.

The first death at the new City Hospital occurred yesterday, in the case of M. Mino, a private patient from the county of Peel, Ont. Deceased was a young man between 25 and 30 years of age.

An addition is being put to the City Hall, and at the rate the work is progressing it will only be a short time before it will be ready for occupation. It will be a great improvement in providing more office room for the civic officials, who at present are very much crowded.

At a special meeting of the City Council, on Wednesday last Aldermen Coldwell, Alexander and Brighouse and Messrs. A. G. Ferguson, H. P. McCraney, and R. G. Tatlow were appointed commissioners of the new park. Yesterday afternoon the committee held its first session and organized by electing Mr. A. G. Ferguson chairman. Considerable discussion took place in regard to the contractors burning the debris at the side of the road, and it was decided that as the contracts were direct from the city, to send an official communication to the Chairman of the Board of Works, requesting him to instruct the City Engineer to notify the contractors to carry out the terms of their contracts, according to which the Engineer has power to order the burning of the rubbish wherever he directs.

The Norwegian ship Leviathan, Capt. Mossfield, has completed loading at the Hastings mill, and cleared yesterday for Melbourne. Her cargo consists of 815,792 feet of rough lumber, 34,252 feet of pickets and 42,090 laths.

The American Ship Pactotus, Capt. Burnham, has completed loading at the Moodyville mill and cleared yesterday for Shanghai. Her cargo consists of 45,112 feet of flooring, and 797,977 feet of rough lumber. She was towed to sea to-day by the tug Holyoke of Port Townsend.

A social reception was given by the ladies Central Committee of the Y. M. C. A., in their rooms last night in consequence of the return of Mr. G. A. Charnock, general secretary, and other delegates to the convention of the Association at Seattle. Among the large number present was the Hon. Jno Robson and the various Evangelical ministers of the city. Mr. Charnock gave a very interesting account of the Convention. Refreshments were afterwards served and a generally good time participated in.

A meeting of the Vancouver Boxing and Gymnastic Club was held last evening in the office of Messrs. R. B. Diplock & Co. Mr. A. St. G. Hamersley was elected President for the ensuing year, and Mr. Diplock was elected Secretary-Treasurer. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Boultbee, Cornish, Tripp, Green and Healy, was appointed. The subscription for the year was fixed at $2. On motion of Mr. Diplock, seconded by Mr. Boultbee, the committee were given power to add to their members. A committee was appointed to select quarters for the club, after which the meeting adjourned. It is the intention of this august body to give an exhibition in the near future of their prowess and skill in the manly art, and thus cultivate a taste for fisticuffs, black eyes and enlarged proboscises. It is the most refined bloody way, you know, of settling disputes.

Since founded and wedded to the commercial universe, Vancouver has produced two evening papers, which happily or otherwise, for the advancement of the World, fell victims to infantile debility and premature decay, this evening was made memorable by the birth of her third in the World, and if the saying, "the child is father to the man" be true in the literary sense we may predict for the new World, a bright, healthy, prosperous and influential career. It has a large body, a clear, shapely and well-balanced head, sturdy and symetrical columns, a broad, full, deep-toned and manly voice, a lynk-like eye, and a hand apparently as tenacious in its hold as it is liberal in its grip. For several hours last evening the office was a scene of busy excitement, as crowds gathered around the door eager for a glimpse of the new born babe. X

SCALING MT. ST. ELIAS.

Return of the Remainder of the Exploring Party.

Among the arrivals by the Ancon from Alaska this morning was Mr. Edwin Topham, one of the party of four who ascended Mt. St. Elias for a height of 11,500 feet. Mr. Topham, who is on his way back to England, related to the reporter an account of some exceedingly hard luck they had returning from their exploring trip. On reaching Yakutat the schooner which was to meet them failed to arrive, and by the way has never been heard of since. A party was then dispatched to Sitka for help and the steam schooner Leo went after them, but after they had started on the voyage to Sitka she sprung aleak and they had to put back and beach her for repairs. At Yakutat Mr. Topham says the blacksand deposits what were supposed to contain gold have been abandoned. Coal, however, of good quality has been struck there and men are at work prospecting it. The seam is reported to be all the way from six to twenty feet. During the exploring trip to mount St. Elias, gold and silver bearing quartz, copper, galena, coal and other minerals were discovered. In fact, Mr. Topham says the country is full of them.

One of the strange things observed in this northern country was that strawberries grow here in abundance. They are as large as the ordinary cultured berry and the ground is fairly red with them in the ripening season. Mr. Edwin Topham accompanies his brother, who was the head of the expedition. Both are experienced mountain climbers.

From Kootenay.

Judge Vowell arrived from Kootenay on a business trip last evening, and will return to-night. There is little news to report in the way of mining. Hall Bros. are said to have demonstrated that they have a rich thing. A blast was made at their mine the other day when a fine ton piece of rock was blown out. From assays made out of this rock it is estimated to be worth $11,000. Prospecting is going on all round, but little capital appears to come in.

—The Princess Louise went round to Esquimalt this afternoon to go into dry dock. The work of cleaning and overhauling her will commence to-morrow.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

Our morning contemporary, as a Sunday homily, opened out on the question of capital and labor. In its usual lucid way, an endeavor is made to force on the mind of the reader that the universe at large, and British Columbia in particular, owe a great deal to the men who command capital, coal mines, steamboats and railways. It is a well known maxim in political economy that capital is necessary to develop the natural resources of a country, but not for creating monopolies. We are told that the capitalist "is the blood of industry;" he is also both the life, blood and existence of the colonist as well. Capitalists who monopolize railways, steamboats and coal mines, and who sell coal in Victoria at $10 a ton, to "live in idleness at the expense of the workingman," may be "mischievous drivel" to our contemporary and its one man supporter, but not either to the workingman or the middle classes of our community, whose interests are identical. The Nanaimo coal miners agitated to have that great source of danger to their lives, the Chinese, expelled from the mines, and they offered and are doing the work at the same rate as during the employment of Chinese labor in the mines. The town of Nanaimo has since prospered. The action of these horny-handed sons of toil thereby benefited, not only the trade of that town, but also that of Victoria. The cry of the press supporting monopoly and the employment of Chinese labor, is, that in consequence of their interdiction, coal is charged at the exhorbitant price of $10 a ton. Previously, the miner was paid from 75 cents to 90 cents a ton and at from 75 cents to 90 cents it yet remains; therefore the plea fails to substantiate the theory. If the retention of an unjust monopoly is to be sustained, solely because the Colonist deprecates setting class against class, then indeed is the glory departed from the press, and it becomes in consequence more baneful to the commonwealth than the socialist or communist.

That the Province of British Columbia suffers more from monopoly in land, in railways, and in coal mines than any other portion of the broad Dominion of Canada, is a fact beyond dispute. We have agitations in older countries for the nationalization of the land; for the working of the railways in the interest of the people, not for securing large dividends; against the evils of trusts and other systems, which agitations find, even here in a remote corner of the Empire, an echo in not only the columns of THE TIMES, but also in the pulpit. Two late sermons delivered from the pulpits of St. Andrew's church and Christ church cathedral, denounced certain kinds of capitalists and monopolists in marked form. There is no intention on our part to set class against class, as stated in the morning journal; but there is an intention to educate the minds of, not only the workingman but also the middle classes to a true sense of their present state of dependence on the whim or caprice of an avaricious individual, whose sole aim and wish is to grind down the dependent in the ordinary ways of life, but who has also succeeded in suborning the legislature of the country and a venal press in order to secure and perpetuate some of the most galling monopolies ever borne by any long suffering people. We, like the Israelites of old, have at present the straw supplied to make the brick by our Pharoah; soon we will be required to find the straw. As we pointed out in a previous article, the workingmen and middle classes of the Province have the remedy in their own hands. They can make and unmake political parties. It only remains for them to exercise that power and burst forever the cursed bands of the grinding monopolies which are choaking the very existence out of our liberty, trade and commerce.

A. W. Ross, who represents a Manitoba constituency, is in Ottawa in the interest of the city of Vancouver. He has interviewed Sir Hector Langevin on the question of deepening Vancouver harbor, and received a promise that the rock hinderance to navigation will be removed. Thus it will be observed that a representative from some effete eastern pocket borough has more influence with the government, when something is wanted for our sister city, than one of the Victoria representatives has for Victoria. How would it do were we to secure Mr. Ross's service as parliamentary agent? Such an arrangement might be found mutually advantageous.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

An American paper has the candour to say, "If one half of the wonderful inventions which are accredited to the ingenious 'Yankees' by the foreign press had any existence whatever, our reputation as a nation of inventors would be well established." Scores of patents which are taken out in the States are old English patents re-served up with an American dress.

The first number of the Vancouver World, a new evening paper established by Messrs. McLagan and O'Brien, journalists well and favorably known in Victoria, made its appearance on Saturday afternoon. The first issue is a double number of eight pages, and contains lengthy descriptions of the manufacturing industries and building operations of Vancouver, with a great deal of local and general news. The paper is well printed and altogether a highly creditable production. It is liberally patronized by the business men of Vancouver and Victoria. We wish it every success, and hope that the brightest anticipations of its publishers may be more than realized.

But while we welcome the World into the ranks, and wish it well as a commercial venture, we cannot do otherwise than express our surprise at the colors of the political flags that its owners have thrown to the breeze. Remembering who the promoters and editors of the World are, it is scarcely to be credited that it would proclaim itself a believer in and supporter of the present dominant party at Ottawa. There is such a thing as consistency in political life, and we had hoped to find it in the sanctum of the World office. But we have, it appears, been mistaken. Subserviency to the local government—although we are glad to find that it promises not to become "slavish and servile"—might be expected under the exigencies of the situation, but to become a supporter of the crumbling cabinet at Ottawa, an advocate and apologist of Toryism—whew! what a tumble! Newspapers are published primarily to disseminate the news and make money, but the propagation of views and beliefs, or the advocacy of the principles held by the editors, is not the least important function of the press. If the proprietary of the World is Liberal, in the name of all that is consistent and honorable in politics how can it pretend to be Tory; or if it is at heart hostile to the corrupt and incapable government of British Columbia how comes it that it volunteers to be a "touter" in the ranks? We must confess to being disappointed at our youthful friend's politics, and can only express the hope that time will show that the sudden recantation was neither genuine nor lasting.

Our Government street contemporary denies that it rejoiced over the downfall of an honest citizen. Perhaps we mistook the spirit of its column-and-a-half editorials of Friday and Saturday mornings, but if we did the fault is not ours. The articles of our contemporary appeared to us to be, rather jubilant than otherwise; certainly they did not convey to the public the idea that the writer had recently perused the lamentations of Jeremiah. If we have mistaken the spirit in which the Colonist has discussed this painful subject, the blame must be laid at the door of our contemporary, who unfortunately at times mistakes vulgarity for wit and the expression of personal rancor and political malevolence for honorable and decorous treatment of those who, fortunately or unfortunately, are the objects of its splenetic humor and pointless sarcasms.

A lie is quite as effectively told by implication as it can be directly. The Colonist, for instance, when alluding to the TIMES, writes: "In opposing the audit and in abusing those who advocated it," it (the TIMES) etc. This is an untruth. If it is not, our contemporary will reproduce something from editorials in the TIMES that will bear out its mendacious statements. We admit, without any hesitation, that we did not consider an audit necessary, but question very much if that belief found editorial expression in the columns of the TIMES. Certainly since the appointment of auditors there has not appeared one word in these columns opposing the work or throwing obstacles in the way. We supposed, the books having been audited every year, that there was no necessity for another audit, and in so thinking we were in accord with a majority of the citizens. To that extent our contemporary may condemn us if it will, but when it goes farther and misrepresents our position on this question we take issue with it at once.

COMOX ROAD BOSS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—Please allow me to say a few words about our Government Agent and Road Boss. One of our number asked the "gentleman" the other day, when he was going to do something to the road in his neighborhood. He replied curtly, that he had too much on his hands to think about without doing anything on the roads. If his time and attention are really taken up with his Chinese washhouse, his grocery store and his logging camp, why did he crave after the government agency? If he finds it too irksome I for one think he had better give it up, and let some one, less gifted perhaps, who will at least give his time and attention to our roads and bridge, have the job. What say you, Mr. Editor?

THE COWICHAN FAIR.

A Good Exhibit of Fruit and Vegetables---The Show a General Success.

Large Crowd Present---The List of Prize Winners---A Gala Day.

As stated in Saturday's TIMES the Cowichan fair held on that day proved a success in all respects. The weather was delightful, the attendance was good and the exhibit fully above the average. Among the visitors were Messrs. D. W. Gordon M. P., H. Fry M. P. P., D. W. Higgins, M. P. P., Ex-Mayor Fell, Dr. Rowbotham, H. Musgrave and other prominent people.

This was the first year that the show had been held at the new grounds, instead of at Maple Bay, and a few of the farmers, it is said, did not take well to the change at first. This, however, did not prevent them from doing what they could to make it a success. The new site is certainly conveniently situated. It is about five acres in extent and when cleared and leveled off will afford ample room for stock and for all purposes. It will also make nice picnic grounds. The main agricultural hall has been erected and when completed will be a very fine building. The interior is divided into a main hall with a raised platform at one end. Two other rooms are formed by wings which stand out on either side of the main building. The improvements which the association contemplate making to the ground, if carried out, will give Cowichan the prettiest piece of property of the kind in the province. Respecting the fair, to say it was a success covers the whole ground. The inside show as in other years was the leading feature of the occassion. The display of fruits, roots and vegetables, was excellent. Some grain was shown which on an average was very fair. The ladies' departments were also well represented. There was quite a nice corner of tasteful fancy work, and above all there was plenty of good home-made bread and butter to remind the visitor that he was in a land of plenty. Few cattle were on the grounds. Among them, the only really good animals were Shopland's Durham cow and yearling, and Simpson's and Horfield's stallions. Good saddle horses were also shown.

It is a pity that an effort is not made to make the fair a little better in this respect, and it is hoped that the farmers will bring out their cattle more willingly another year when good sheds are erected. The fowls were very good especially the collection shown by Mrs. Jas. Fiett. The decision of the judges in most cases was satisfactory. Messrs. W. H. Lomas, H. Fry, Jr., secretary, and H. Bowsall, treasurer, like the others who had anything to do with the management of the affair were indefatigable in their efforts to make it a success. "B" Battery has discoursed sweet music during the afternoon. Messrs. Price and Jaynes of the Quamichan hotel, catered to the wants of the crowd.

The Bowels.

By the advice of a friend I began taking Ayer's Pills. In a short time I was free from pain, my food digested properly, the sores on my body commenced healing, and, in less than one month, I was cured.—Samuel D. White, Atlanta, Ga.

I have long used Ayer's Pills, in my family, and believe them to be the best pills made.—S. C. Darden, Darden, Miss.

My wife and little girl were taken with Dysentery a few days ago, and I at once began giving them small doses of Ayer's Pills, thinking I would call a doctor if the disease became any worse. WHALES IN UTAH.

A New Kind of "Stock" Industry —A Big Scheme in Whale Fishing.

How to Obviate the Perils of Whaling—Mr. Stenhouse as a Doubting Thomas.

Intelligent newspaper readers have not forgotten the inauguration fifteen years ago by Mr. James Wickham, a scientific English gentleman, of the whale industry in the great Salt Lake. As considerable time was required for the development of the experiment, the subject has passed out of the public mind, but it has by no means been forgotten by naturalists or capitalists interested in the whale fishery. The whale is the largest and probably the longest lived animal. They have been known to grow 100 feet in length and live to the age of 400 years. It is a mammal, or, in other words suckles its young. The project of Mr. Wickham was greatly assisted by this fact, for the difficulty that would attend the obtaining of whale eggs in the deep seas is at once apparent. It was only necessary to obtain a pair of whales in order to begin the propagation of animals under domestication. The southern or Australian whale was selected as best suited to the climate of the Great Salt Lake. The greater part of two years were occupied off the coasts of Australia by a vessel sent especially for the purpose in continued efforts to capture the young whales without injury. The feat, however, was at last accomplished, and the beasts, each about thirty-five feet long, were shipped to San Francisco in 1873 in tanks built expressly for them. Fifty tanks of sea water accompanied their overland shipment to insure plentiful supplies of the natural element.

Mr. Wickham came from London in person to superintend the "planting" of his leviathan pets. He selected a small bay near the mouth of Bear River, connected with the main water by a shallow strait half a mile wide. Across this strait he built a wire fence, and inside the pen so formed he turned the whales loose. After a few minutes of inactivity, they disported themselves in a lively manner, spouting water as in mid ocean, but as if taking in by instinct or intention the cramped character of their new home, they suddenly made a bee line for deep water, and shot through the wire fence as if it had been made of threads. In twenty minutes they were out of sight, and the chagrined Mr. Wickham stood gazing helplessly at the big salt water.

If Great Salt Lake were in Asia it would be called a sea. It is seventy-five miles long and from thirty to forty wide, so it is easy to perceive how readily the whale could vanish from sight. Though the enterprising owner was of course disappointed and doubtful of results, he left an agent behind him to look after his floating property.

Six months later Mr. Wickman's representative came upon the whales fifty miles from the bay where they had broken away, and from that time to the present they have been observed at intervals by him and the watermen who ply the lake, spouting and playing.

Within the last few days, however, Mr Wickham cabled directions to make a careful inspection and report developments, and the agent followed the whales for five successive days and nights, discovering that the original pair are now sixty feet in length, and are followed by a shoal of several hundred young, varying in length from three to fifteen feet. The scheme is a surprising and complete success, and Mr. Wickham has earned the thanks of mankind.

Catching whales in Great Salt Lake and following that business off the dangerous Greenland coast are two quite different things. The enormous value of the new industry can be better appreciated by remembering that a single whale produces twenty tons of pure oil.

Referring to the above Mr. A. M. Stenhouse writes: "This plausible and highly circumstantial narrative has gone unchallenged almost the entire round of the American newspapers, whose editors with all their Yankee cuteness are the very greenest of mortals in their knowledge of Utah. When it is known that one barrel of common salt can be obtained from three barrels of the water of the Great Salt Lake, the absurdity of the whole yarn becomes at once apparent. None but the very lowest forms of animal life, if even these, can exist in the body of the Great Salt Lake. 'Intelligent newspaper readers have here a fine sample of human credulity, and until they have actually seen the now famous Whales of Utah, I hope they will accept with many grains of the chief product of the Salt Lake the still fishier and fouler stories which villify the character of an honest and industrious people."

A Japanese Mining Colony.

The principal coal mines in Japan are situated on the island of Takashima, outside the harbor of Nagasaki. They form one of the principal centres of coal supply in the East, and have now been worked by a lessee of the government's with all the more recent and improved appliances for about 16 years past. According to a recent official report, 2,500 miners are engaged, the total population of the island being 10,000. The remainder is composed of fishermen, officers, mechanics, surface laborers, and a floating population of hangers-on to the miners. The latter have daily rations sold at fixed prices; these consist of rice, vegetables, pickles, tea, fish, beef soup, and occasionally beef, the total daily cost being under 10 cents. The daily earnings are 23½ cents to 25 cents, and the total reductions for necessary expenses are altogether 13 cents, leaving between 8c. and 10c. clear, while the scale of dietary is far above the average of the same class elsewhere in Japan. Married and unmarried men live apart. The latter live in buildings containing living rooms, dormitories, and eating rooms. The kitchens and offices are all apart from the dwellings, with special drainage into main conduits. The rooms are warmed by large fireplaces, and ventilated and lighted by windows fitted with sliding venetian shutters. The area allotted to each man in the living rooms is about 700 cubic feet of air space. The married people live in separate apartments giving about 2,000 feet of air space. From July to October the island is put into a state of semi-quarantine against all outside communication, partly with a view to prevent the importation of epidemics, but also to prevent the sale of deliterious foods brought from the mainland. All such food as seaweed, unripe fruit, uncooked vegetables, shell-fish, etc., are strictly forbidden, as is also the drinking to excess of intoxicating liquors.

BURGOYNE BAY.

The Exhibition and How to Get There—Blue Ribbon Meeting, &c.

So The Country Major is a "tenderfoot" on Salt Spring, at least according to M. B. Well, not quite that, for he knows more about the island than possibly either M. B. or his uncle. And the Salt Springites have not stock (what with, pine?) to the society; well, what a pity! But where, it may be asked, are the least signs of their desertion? How much money was taken by our people as prizes last year? Living just beside the Major was one who bore away the neat sum of $20 50. (Nor would we claim that the largest winning.) Certainly, too, the indications were far surpassing for this present year. Again, it is suggested that we take our articles via Chemainus. How wise an idea! Strange, the Islanders did not think of it themselves. For their edification let us state the idea in full. Send exhibits by boat to Chemainus on Friday, where they would reach just too late for the train and would consequently have to remain at Chemainus until Saturday morning, when they would be taken gratis to the grounds. But, alas! too late to be entered, to the utter chagrin of their owners. Returning they might reach Chemainus on Saturday evening, but would have to remain there until Thursday, when it could again reach home. Oh! what a glorious trip the noble Cowichaners would have us enjoy? Every praise for such generosity.

Blue Ribbon convened as usual on Saturday, evening, 22d inst., with a good attendance, President Dougan in the chair. A short, earnest prayer being offered by Rev. Mr. Bowell, a hearty vote of thanks was tendered retiring president Harrel for his unflagging energies while presiding officer in the temperance cause, to which he neatly responded, testifying that his every effort should be still towards that noble end. Mrs. Lee then gave a song that reflected the highest degree of merit. Rev. Mr. Bowell next treated both old and young to a lecture on the late J. B. Gough, which to say little, was a high pleasure to all. Each step in that finally great man was clearly pictured. To the young it showed the importance of avoiding evil, and to the elderly that there is every hope for them. Especially did he dwell upon true nobility and our position toward those blindly following the down grade. Gough, for the last 40 years of his life, the foremost temperance worker either trans Atlantic or cis-Atlantic, and when in passing from this earthly theatre emphasizing especially "Young man keep your record clear." At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the Rev. gentleman. Song by Mr. W. L. Pollard was heartily applauded. The President, after appropriate remarks, gave a humorous recitation that was well received. Although the lengthy programme was not fully gone through, yet fleeting time demanded a close. All were pleased. Come early, come all, was the closing invitation.

A new settler is among us in the person of Mr. Haskins, with wife and family, who lately arrived from Kansas, U. S. A. They are delighted with the change and we wish them continued success. Shortly after arrival Mrs. Haskins gave birth to a fine boy. Welcome, new arrival!

English Girls at Cricket.

Among ladies cricket seems to have become, if possible, more popular than last year, and even titled dames and damsels now handle the bat with as great ease as the racquet. At the Lyric Club I overheard Lady Raincliffe expressing a strong desire to be taught, while Lady Cholmondeley needed no "coaching" when once she got before the wickets. Lady Beaumont, too, has won laurels in many matches played against the sterner sex. At Maidenhead last week there was a cricket match which attracted very large numbers to the field where it was held; indeed, on one side of the ground there were several rows of carriages well filled with enthusiastic spectators. Ladies vs. men were the sides, the men being only allowed the use of the left arm for batting, bowling and fielding, while their right arm was worn in a sling. To the great delight of every one, not excluding their opposers, the ladies were victorious by three runs. One girl gained undying fame by taking six wickets for twenty-three runs, and another distinguished herself by making seventeen runs, not out. The players were chiefly gowned in serge or flannel skirts and loose shirts. Two sisters, one of whom was an admirable "wicket keep," looked very well in white, with blue shirts; and another pair wore becoming dresses consisting of dark serge skirts and loose jackets, with blue and white striped shirts. Large blue straw hats trimmed with red poppies completed the costumes. Miss Monckton, who was in the eleven, wore dark blue, with a white shirt made like a man's, with a stiff front, collar and cuffs, a red serge waistcoat and a dark blue coat.—London Correspondent.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous. *

—Jos. Beaudin, M. D., Hull, P. Q., writes: Dr. Thomas's Electric Oil commands a large and increasing sale, which it richly merits. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; I used it in all cases of Rheumatism, as well as fractures and dislocations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg with dislocation of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved from pain.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

St. John's Church Beautifully Decorated With Flowers and Fruit.

The yearly Harvest Thanksgiving service was held in St. John's Church on Sunday morning and evening. The edifice was decorated with flowers and fruits, whilst strings of myrtle and ivy, sheaves of wheat and vegetable products were entwined in a most pleasing manner around various portions of the church. The pulpit, decorated by Miss M. Wilson and Mrs. H. Rhodes, presented a beautiful picture and a marvel of taste. The fount, decorated by Mrs. Snowden and Miss Dunsmuir, was hidden beneath a wreath of ivy, flowers, fruits and cereals. Mr. and Mrs. Hancock decorated the lectern and reading desk while Mrs Blaiklock took charge of the chancel and other portions of the church, forming beautiful festoons of flowers and fruits which brought forth the refined taste of the noble Christian workers. At the morning service Jackson's Choral service was rendered by a full choir and the evening service Whitfield's Choral. The sermon at the morning service was upon the "Seed Time and Harvest," and in the evening on the question "Is it more Blessed to Give than to Receive?"

A Deserved Tribute.

In its last issue the Guardian pays the following unique but deserved tribute to the late Alexander Allen: "We note with sincere regret, the death of Mr. Alexander Allen, the late principal clerk in the office of Welsh Ritbet & Co., of the Provincial capital. We could dwell for ever on the good qualities of Mr. Allen; they were of the purest quality and kind, such as do honor to humanity. But we would only keep open the painful void that is left by his departure, and make the contemplation of many that are left anything but a flattering contrast."

From Rock Creek.

Mr. A. V. Stronach arrived from Rock Creek last night, five days from the camp. He reports the Eureka mine working night and day and a number of claims doing assessment work. Courelle & Murray, surveyors, have surveyed six claims for which crown grants will be applied for. The new trail is completed out to Okanagan, making the distance from Penticton to the mines 10 to fifteen miles shorter. The general outlook of the camp is very healthy, and Mr. Stronach thinks it will turn out to be a remarkably rich one. There has been a new discovery on the west side of Okanagan of considerable importance. Native gold is distinctly to be seen in the quartz. The fortunate discoverers are, Geo. Sheehan, Fred Gwatkin; Joe Brumley, G Wilkenson and Harry Simpson.

When Mr. Russell left Victoria on Friday evening, he walked out to Beacon Hill, as advised by a friend, and there found a small boat awaiting him. He was taken across the Straits and after landing found his way to Port Townsend, where he now is.

It is alleged that a more serious charge than embezzlement may be laid against him, and his extradition be applied for.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

Another Sunday Vision—An Interview With the Old Boy.

Yesterday being the Sabbath of the Lord, the Major enjoyed it thoroughly. Being too lazy to go to church in the morning, he took his consolor and joy in leisure moments, the pipe, and seated beneath the shady grove, watching the "sear and yellow leaf" fall, meditated to himself on the same. From the distance came floating on the autumn breeze, the solemn sound of the grand organ from the big church. The smoke from the "dadeen" curled upwards in clouds, thoughts went back to the eventful periods of the past week. Here, happy and contented was the old fellow, enjoying the Sabbath repose, free from cares, trials or tribulations; his plug of tobacco paid for, a new hat last week and the prospect of a new coat in the remote distance, a long way off 'tis true, still in prospect of being a reality. How different with the "boodler." "How the mighty are fallen from their seat," were the thoughts for a serious moment. Was not the latter fully illustrated in the police court on Saturday last? Oh, me, this is a sad, wicked world; some people are never contented with either position in society or a big salary, the craving is for more. Because individuals are good sorts, genial companions, and "set 'em up" for the boys, and girls also, that's no earthly reason why they should do so with other people's money.

Victoria, be up and doing! Months ago the Major called your attention to New York under Tammany, the Montreal city contracts, and the corporation coal steal contract of Toronto. Victoria is worse if anything. It now requires five bosses at $3 a day to do the corporation work, where one used to suffice. There are rotten bricks for sale, sewer plans to alter, and sewers to build. Clear 'em all out and run the civic machine by commission. Have an enquiry, and those who are guilty let them, apart from any other considerations, have the full benefit of the law.

The Major gave you a good lesson the other day about the morality of gambling, and the Rev. Mr. Clinton gave you a splendid sermon on purity. Did he not tell you what the Major told you some time ago, to "boycott" those men that made companions of fast women and fast horses? There's no humbug about him; he preaches what he means. This life would be well worth living had we more of his stamp amongst us. The Major's poor effort on gambling brings home, no doubt, many truths to you, my fair friends, in your neglected domestic life and also your neglected out-door life. The pasteboard, with the horrid burlesque painted on its inanimate countenance, has, it seems, more attraction than our roses. This is the natural outcome of card playing. You have degenerated into a plaything of the moment, to kill the monotony, while they recoup their muddled thoughts as how to bluff on a "straight flush." You can alter this sad state if you will. Exercise that universal remedy for all the evils of life in this, the latter part of the nineteenth century—"boycott!"

From out of the blue smoke, as it curled heavenward, the Major saw the form of His Satanic Majesty evolve. The "old boy" made his usual salutation. "Oh," said he, "here you are worrying your brains again about my city, are you? I didn't see you in church so I thought I'd come and look you up. Now, you old vagabond, what have you been thinking: do you fancy that the late revelations of my city hall are the result of a virtuous turn in the minds of men? Why, fool, you were never more mistaken in your life; it is all a dodge of mine, come and see. There, look through that window. Observe my "ex-Councillor;" see him hard at work writing for my paper. He will now pose as an honest citizen; why man, he knew of all this years ago. When I get my new crowd in, with my "ex-Councillor" at their head, we will do the thing in better order. We'll do many things, and break up my club. I'm sorry to let it go, but go it must. We'll replace the "boodlers" with men well versed in traducing, boodling on a scientific scale—not bunglers like the last men—ones that will steal by "thousands where the others only stole by tens. What's that you say about public opinion? Nonsense, your Sir Chas. Dilke was a fool, and your outward moral public opinion in England must be humored now and again; here we'll have none of it. You said truly the other day that "qualification was no recommendation to public preferment," that everything was suborned to suit my ends. So it is, and you shall have an illustration of it shortly. There, look over my ex-councillor's shoulder; see the plan of that street railway. We have got six out of the nine, and will bulldoze the whole caboodle of 'em with their eyes open. We won't go on the moral plan of saying "we are not stealing;" we'll acknowledge temptation down to jealousy. These other fellows stole and want to appear virtuous; we'll act contrary. We have everything fixed, all will now go as merry as a marriage bell—will you join us? I'll give you a nice house, a new coat, a — you won't eh? Then go and be ——." The thunder of the last word shook the very earth. The Major jumped to his feet. It was the mid-day gun, booming and vibrating over hill and dale. The old chap had been asleep. The big spirit just then came along and asked why the Major was not saying his prayers.

Troubled in mind, still happy and contented, the Major pondered the sayings of the "old boy" all evening. In the evening he went to church, listened to the sacred song sung to perfection, and heard the good parson pray and preach about bareness and fertility, figuratively and morally, of the depraved morals of Victoria, of the young and old—the fertile fields neglected and overgrown with nettles throughout the land, where neither the valleys, the little hills, nor the fields of corn laughed with gladness. The discourse was quite appropriate to the season. The Major returned home a wiser man and vowed he'd never stay from church again to please the pigs, the d—l or any one else whose idea of public questions may be reliable. We must contrive some other day for our instructive conversations besides the Sabbath of the Lord. But the circumstance was unavoidable on this occasion, so thinks

THE TOWN MAJOR.

The Right Time.

Probably there is no period in life more important for the mental and moral training of youths than that between eight and seventeen years of age. If the spring-time of life is well employed, good results may be expected in after years. No better preparation can be afforded boys in this province than that which may be obtained at Corrig School, which is already largely patronized, and which is weekly increasing in number.

POLICE COURT.

(Before City Police Magistrate Richards, Q. C.)

James Brown, breaking a window at Railroad Hotel; fined $10.

W. Martin, drunk and disorderly; fined $5.

John Stewart, assault with intent; remanded.

A. Lyche, driving over a sidewalk; fined $2.50.

GEN. MIDDLETON.

His History as a Soldier—Object of His Visit.

Major General Sir Fred. Middleton, C. M.G., commander-in-chief of the Canadian militia, accompanied by Lady Middleton and Capt. Wise, 26th Scottish Rifles, A. D. C., arrived in the city last evening and are staying at the Driard. Owing to problems of great moment to the defence of the province being brought to the notice of the Major General during his official visit, it was deemed advisable to seek an interview with the gallant officer. Accordingly a TIMES reporter requested an interview, which was granted with that grace and courtesy characteristic of the distinguished general. Being invited by Capt. Wise into the dining room of the hotel, we found ourselves in the presence of a hale, stout-looking military personage, in the simple undress uniform of a Major General, the cross buttons on the shoulders being the only indication of superior rank. Lady Middleton was seated at the head of the table, the embodiment of grace and womanly dignity, free from that hauteur which might be expected owing to her distinguished position. Her Ladyship is in the prime of life. In a blunt, straightforward military manner, the gallant General said he would willingly afford the representative of the press all the information in his power regarding his mission to the coast, and on other topics.

Reporter—The last time, General, I had the pleasure of seeing you was on that cold, raw morning when you marched away to the Saskatchewan and victory.

General—Ah, yes, I recollect. You know all about that. What do you require now?

R—Your past service, General. You were in the old 58th?

Gen.—Oh! I see that's going a long way back; before you were born. Yes, that was my first regiment. I joined in the early 40's, embarked for foreign service to New Zealand, and served during the Maori wars of '46 7-8-9. I exchanged into the 29th foot, and went to India. No; not with my regiment; catch me serving in India other than on the staff. I was appointed to the staff of General Luard, and served throughout the Indian mutiny in Bengal. On returning to England, I was, in the year 1870, appoint to organize the present system of garrison instruction. I had the whole of the home stations under my control, with my headquarters and school of instruction at Aldershot. After establishing that system as it now exists, I was, in 1874, appointed to the Governorship of Sandhurst Staff College, and succeeded General Luard as Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Militia in 1882. The remainder of my history you know.

Reporter—What is you present mission to the Pacific coast?

General—To inspect the troops and the sites of proposed fortifications at Esquimalt and other points where work of this kind is to be undertaken. I may go to San Juan harbor if necessary; as yet I have no programme laid off.

Reporter—What about the inefficient quarters for C Battery and the drill shed for the city corps?

General—Oh, that will come under my notice at inspection, and I shall of course enquire into the various questions. The regular troops should have proper barracks and the drill shed should be centrally situated, so as to be no bar to filling up the volunteer ranks. You may rely I won't let any point, coming under my notice, that may be of any advantage to the service, escape my enquiry."

The gallant officer's breast is decorated with medals innumerable for the various services in which he was engaged. His stay in the Province may be a lengthened one, owing to the several questions to be enquired into.

A NEW COLLIERY

To be Opened Up in Cedar District by a Wealthy Company.

It is learned on good authority, that the recent visit to Nanaimo and district of the representatives of a rich and influential American corporation, has resulted in the purchase of the Cedar district coal lands, to the extent of 3200 acres, by the corporation alluded to above. The purchasers are large consumers of coal, and it is stated that the work of opening up their coal field will be commenced almost immediately. It is suggested that the work will be on a most extensive scale. This is indeed good news for Cedar district, and Nanaimo is sure to reap substantial benefits from the opening up of a new colliery.
